FIFTY-THIRD YEAR No. 14.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1930

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

The date of the state primary election this year falls on August 13. That many people are interested in this election is evidenced by the fact that candidates are, this early, calling on Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown for supplies of declaration of candidacy forms, with the accompanying blanks, for circulation in their respective areas. Anticipating this and sensing an increasing interest in Ohio's election laws Secretary of State Brown is now proceeding with a re-codification of Ohio Laws governing exercise of suffrage rights. A feature of this re-codification will be the incorporation therein of attorney general opinions on these laws, together with court decisions and special rulings thereon made by secretaries of state since the last codification.

Wool growers of Ohio and exhibitors in sheep and wool classes from other states will receive with glad acclaim the announcement that a spacious and up-to-date wool exhibit room is included in the plans for the sheep display building to be constructed this summer at the Ohio State Fair grounds in time for use at the 1930 fair. In 1929 there were 2 1/2 tons of wool on display but with the added encouragement of an ample and well-placed exhibit space this record bids to be soon eclipsed. The new show room will have a capacity of five tons of wool on its display benches.

Within a week the State Department of Agriculture and its numerous divisions will have a new home and the various spaces now occupied on the basement floor of the State House Annex by this organization will be turned over to other departments which have outgrown their quarters. The new location will be on the fifth floor of the recently renovated Hartman-Oliver building at the corner of Main and Fourth Streets; other floors of which are already occupied by the Highway and other departments. The division of plant industry and marketing inspection will move at the same time to the new building on the first floor.

Through the enactment of a recent law permitting county commissioners to appropriate funds for the appointment of county apirary inspectors the bee-keeping industry of Ohio has been given great impetus. Sixteen counties in the state have already availed themselves of this legal provision and bee-keepers in these counties can now obtain the inspection and safeguarding of their colonies free of cost, according to State Apiarist C. A. Reese, whose headquarters are in Columbus. A warning to all Ohio bee-keepers not to transfer bees from one apiary to another without first applying for and obtaining inspection is a spring-like warning issued by Mr. Reese this week.

The office of Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown was well represented at the Ike Walton League meet held in Columbus last Wednesday. Assistant Secretary John Belknap and Cashier Thomas L. Woods of this department, both of Steubenville, carried credentials from the Jefferson County Fish and Game league to this gathering of earnest, though truthful, sportsmen. Both of these officials, have, it is explained, taken a solemn oath to abstain from bait-socking, pot-shooting and kindred vices which are taboo in the membership of this Ohio River "hasenbund."

All state-owned lakes and parks, except such of the latter as are specifically controlled by the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical society, have been transferred to the custody of the newly created Division of Conservation. Chief of these lakes and the parks surrounding them are Buckeye, Indian, St. Marys, Portage and Lorain. To these will be added other large areas of impounded water now in the making at Mt. Glen and at the Roosevelt Game Preserve. Plans are also afoot to impound a lake of considerable area in Jefferson county near Steubenville.

Will Attend State Veterinary Conference

Dr. Leo Anderson will be away from his office during March 20, 21 and 22, 1930, in Columbus, Ohio, attending the Veterinary Conference held by the Ohio State University, College of Veterinary Medicine, on these dates. The Conference is an intensive post-graduate course for veterinarians, arranged to give them in the shortest possible time the best and latest developments in the treatment, control, and eradication of the diseases of animals. The Conference will benefit the veterinarian and through him the livestock industry he serves.

The First Indication of Spring

Local Farmer Writes For Farm Paper

David C. Bradfute, R. F. D. Cedarville, Ohio, is featured in an article entitled, "A Crop From the Creek," in the March issue of Capper's Farmer, a national farm magazine published at Topeka, Kansas, by Senator Arthur Capper.

In this article, the author says a grassy banked creek flows thru the Bradfute farm but aside from supplying surface drainage and water for pastured livestock, it wasn't especially useful. According to the author, David C. Bradfute thought he could make it pay dividends without spoiling its beauty so ducks became a supplement to the poultry project on his farm. Last year the Bradfutes hatched 216 in an incubator and raised 128.

"We started with 15 drakes and 110 ducks. There is a hatchery in this locality and we marketed all our eggs at 55 cents a dozen to the hatchery. From 100 hens we had an income of $20 to $25 a week for about three months. They began laying in December, took a vacation during a cold spell, but started again by January 15 and continued until August."

In this article, the author compares the ducks to chickens as to care, profitability and so forth. He also tells how the Bradfutes feed and house their ducks.

Well Now Down To 300 Feet

The municipal water well is now down 300 feet with eighteen feet more yet to drill to fulfill the contract made last week. No test has been made this week but one will be made just as soon as Engineer Collins Wright can arrange for it after the drillers are through. It is not likely the well will be drilled deeper than 318 feet.

Representatives of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Co., local contractors, have been here this week arranging to get things started. The ditching machine will be brought here from the O. S. & S. O. Home where the company has a contract. It is said the company will bring only a few experienced men here for the job and that all other labor will be local, which will be good news to the community.

More material is arriving daily and is being stored or distributed about town.

Conference of Liberal Arts Colleges

An important conference of representatives of liberal arts colleges will be held in Chicago at the Stevens Hotel, March 18-20 to consider problems of interest to such institutions. It is expected that five hundred or more such institutions in the United States will be represented at this meeting. President W. R. McChesney of Cedarville College will attend.

The day is here when the public must have a more direct interest in the smaller institutions. Only a comparatively few people can now afford to send their children to the larger institutions located at some distant point. The college education is just as important as that of the high school but the smaller colleges may requirements set by larger institutions that have endowments running into the hundreds of millions.

In some quarters there is now some fear that the church or denominational college may have some rough going if additional requirements are placed on them. The past few years has seen millions roll into the endowments of great universities, an impossible thing for the church supported college.

SCHOOL NEWS

Chapel Exercises
On Monday morning a chapel exercise was held for the six classes of High School and for the fifth and sixth grades. Devotionals were in charge of Supt. H. D. Furst. A very pleasing violin solo was played by Jeanette Neil, fourth grade.

As a special feature of the program, a very interesting talk was given by Mr. Galloway, general manager of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Company, on the subject of "Vocational Guidance." He told us of the importance of getting the right start in life. There is need of higher education to compete with the business world of today. He also informed us that the paper industry is the seventh largest in the world and told something of the fields and departments in making paper.

COUNCIL MET TO DISCUSS VICE PROBLEM

Council met Tuesday evening at a called session to discuss the problem of certain forms of law enforcement and the advisability of employing aid in meeting local problems.

Mayor Richards laid the matter of reported violations about the pool rooms before council and stated complaints had been made to him by individuals that demand action be taken soon.

The matter of law enforcement was in the hands of local authorities as the view of council and support along this line was assured.

Mayor Richards stated that he would summon all pool room proprietors as well as property owners renting property for that purpose at the mayor's office Wednesday afternoon to define the law and give them warning as to what to expect in the future.

Mayor Richards had the proprietors of the local pool rooms as well as the property owners before him Wednesday afternoon for a conference relative to any gambling that might be going on. He stated that complaints had been made and that each would be given an opportunity of setting his house in order, otherwise someone else might be compelled to undertake the task.

Greene County Now Owns Court House

Greene county can truthfully say that she owns the court house, as the last payment on the bonds was issued March 1st by County Auditor F. H. Creswell. The amount of the bond and coupon was $4,980.20.

Away back in 1883 the county commissioners appointed a committee to make an investigation of the old building and a report was turned in favoring a new structure. The question was then submitted to the electors at the fall election but it was badly defeated, Xenia city being the only taxing district to give a favorable vote.

Seventeen years later the old building was sold to the State for the purpose of inspection of factories and shops. The county commissioners then asked the State Legislature to pass a bill authorizing a new building and also the authority for issuing bonds. This was done March 21, 1900. The act provided for a building commission composed of the commissioners and four other citizens, two from each of the dominant political parties.

Again the issue was submitted to the electors on a $200,000 bond issue, which carried by 908 votes. Xenia, Cedarville and New Jasper voted for it while every other taxing district voted against it.

The county commissioners at that time were John B. Stevenson, Yellow Springs; J. B. "Daddy" Smith, Spring Valley, and John W. Fudge, New Jasper. Common Pleas Judge Scroggy was authorized to appoint the four members to complete the commission and the following were named: Henry M. Barber, Cedarville; Albert Wickesham, Jamestown; "Squire" Ferguson, Beavercreek twp., and Hon. John Little, Xenia. The latter only served a few months but the vacancy caused by his death, was filled with the appointment of his son, George Little. The following election J. Harve Nash, Xenia, succeeded Mr. Smith as commissioner and served the duration of the life of the board.

The commission did what few public bodies have ever accomplished, that is erect a building estimated to cost $200,000 for $175,000. Moreover there are few more substantial court houses in the state, erected even at a greater cost.

It was the aim of the building commission to be certain that every dollar expended represented a dollar in value in the building.

TAXES AND NAVAL LIMITATION

Entirely aside from its significance as a move toward permanent world peace, the naval limitation conference in London, if successful, will have a salutary effect on the tax situation in the five major nations.

The navy is one of our most expensive institutions, and at present absorbs $1,200,000,000 of tax money annually. The life of a navy is about twenty years.

A battleship of 35,000 tons costs approximately $40,000,000. A 10,000-ton cruiser costs $17,000,000 and a 3,000-ton submarine, $6,000,000. In addition, the cost of manning and operating these ships must be considered. It can be readily seen that aggressive naval limitation will be of great value to the struggling taxpayer.

ADVERTISE IN YOUR HOME TOWN PAPER

The Oswego, Oregon, Review runs the following interesting quotation from the American Banker's Magazine, using it as an advertisement:

"No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

WORLD-BEATING RECORD

Every American should be impressed by the great world-beating fact that Our Country has maintained its basic industries, like railroads, mining, agriculture, public utilities and insurance on a foundation of private ownership and individualism and has not fallen for the delusions of socialism and communism.

European countries are dominated by government ownership and extensive socialization of great industries. They suffer from useless tax burdens resulting from tax-free government-owned enterprises. They have not adopted modern ideas of corporation management and citizen ownership. In Russia individualism has been completely crushed and properly rights destroyed. Officialism reigns supreme and it was all done in the name of "liberty" and "freedom."

A remarkable example of progress in our own country has been the history of privately owned industries. They have shown a steady increase in service rendered and taxes paid coupled with declining comparative charges to consumers.

NEWSPAPER MEN GET FREEDOM

The Court of Appeals has reversed a Common Pleas Court in Cleveland that held Louis B. Seitzer, editor and Carlton K. Matson, editorial writer, Cleveland Press, guilty of contempt of court and ordered $500 fines for each for thirty days in jail.

The newspaper men had a different view of gambling at races near Cleveland and took exceptions to decisions rendered by Judge Walther, who had granted an injunction against the Sheriff of that county enforcing the law.

Judge Walther did not trust a decision to another jurist in the case but was the grand jury finding the indictment, the prosecutor, and again the jury in finding the newspaper men guilty. The Court of Appeals scored Judge Walther for his actions in the case and said in addition:

"We live in an age of pitiless publicity where the freedom of the press and freedom of speech are paramount issues, and newspapers should have the right to print what they please, always guiding themselves by the laws of libel. A free people must have a free press and a newspaper should have the right to speak freely its views."

"Because a man gets on the bench it does not necessarily mean that he has changed his temperament or his ability to get excited, and if he can set himself above the rest of mankind and sit in judgment on grievances in which he is the injured party, we are establishing a dangerous precedent."

The docket entry of the appellate court on the case read: "Reversed, for the reason that the court (Judge Walther) abused his discretion in trial of the case."

COLLEGES MUST ORGANIZE FOR PROTECTION

The conference of Liberal Arts Colleges to be held next week in Chicago is a step in the right direction. If the smaller colleges of this country are to have a place in the educational field they must organize to protect their rights and the public has a grave responsibility in lending aid.

If matters in the educational world go on as they have in the past only those of unusual financial means will be able to send their children through college or the university. The man of ordinary means will have no opportunity whatever of seeing his children have the same advantage of others. The young man or woman with aspirations and probably natural ability will find the road rougher going than at present. They will no doubt be compelled to turn back finding the cost of education prohibitive.

Our forefathers declared that all should have equal chance and education should be provided as cheaply as possible for all. Proposed standards set by institutions that have hundreds of millions will only establish an impassable gulf in which few can cross. There are indications that many restrictions proposed are but a stab at the denominational college. If the smaller institutions cannot get protection through their organization, it will then be up to the public to have standards set by federal or state legislation.

Brings home the bacon

Uniko Pig and Hog Ration is a wonderful help in getting fall pigs started and makes two litters a year practical. Farmers who have used this feed in the past know how good it is. They know how it makes the little pigs grow and fattens hogs faster and cheaper. When killing time comes around it brings home the bacon in good hard cash. Try it. Feed it to the shoats. Feed it to your fattening hogs. You'll find it the best feed investment you ever made. We sell it—also the full line of Union Grains and other Uniko World Record Feeds.

Lesson for March 16

THE PARABLES OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 13:24-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—The kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Whole World for Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The World for Christ.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Our Religion Means to Us.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Christianity Means to the World.

The things set forth in these parables only apply to the church in the measure that they permeate that body by virtue of its being formed within this period. It should be observed that they set forth the "mysteries" of the kingdom.

1. The Wheat and Tares (vv. 24-30, cf. 30-43).

1. The sowers. The sower of the good seed is the Son of Man (v. 37), and the sower of the tares is the devil (v. 39).

2. The growing crops (v. 29).

There is a striking resemblance in the growing crops. The chief peril of the devil is that he transforms himself into an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14, 15).

3. The harvests (v. 30).

There comes a time when the fruit of the crop shall be gathered. The separation is made by the angels under the direction of the Son of Man. For the tares there is a furnace of fire. For the wheat there is the Lord's garner.

11. The Mustard Seed (vv. 31, 32).

1. Its unimportant beginning (v. 1). It begins as the least of all seeds. Not only was Christ, the King, of humble parentage, but His disciples were unlettered fishermen. Likewise, through the centuries, not many wise and not many noble have been called.

2. Its vigorous growth (v. 32).

Though small in its inception, the work inaugurated by Christ has become mighty in power.

3. Its lodging capacity (v. 32).

The birds which find lodgment in the tree do not represent the children of men who find safety and salvation in the church, but the predatory beings who have found shelter in the church, though they are no part of it.

111. The Leavened Bread (v. 33).

1. The meal in Scripture means something nutritious and wholesome. It was used in one of the sweetest offerings which typified Christ (Lev. 2:1-3 R. V.).

2. The woman.

The woman is the administrator of the home. Her responsibility is to take the bread provided by the head of the home and prepare and distribute it to the children. It means then that the woman, the administrator, has introduced false doctrine and thus corrupted the children's bread.

3. The leaven.

In Scripture, leaven is invariably a type of evil (Ex. 12:15; Matt. 16:6, 12; I Cor. 5:6-8; Gal. 5:8, 9). It means that in this age the truth of God would be corrupted by worldliness and unbelief.

IV. The Hidden Treasure (v. 44).

1. The field (v. 43). Christ's own interpretation makes this the world.

2. The treasure. The treasure means Israel (Ps. 135:4; Deut. 7:6-8).

3. The purchaser. No one but the Son of God had sufficient resources to buy the world (John 8:10).

4. The purchase price. This was the precious blood of Jesus Christ, God's beloved Son (I Pet. 1:13, 19).

V. The Merchantman Seeking Pearls (vv. 45, 46).

1. The merchantman is Christ. The Son of Man has come to seek and save that which was lost (Luke 19:10).

2. The purchase price. Christ impoverished Himself (Phil. 2:8) to purchase the one pearl of great price (Eph. 6:2).

3. The pearl of great price. This is the church (Col. 1:18).

VI. The Dragnet (v. 47-50).

1. The sea. The sea in Scripture denotes peoples or multitudes (Dan. 7:3; Rev. 17:15).

2. The dragnet. The dragnet cast into the sea means the sowing of the seed by the Son of Man.

3. The dragnet drawn to the shore when full means that when God's purpose for the present age is full, account will be taken of the results.

4. The separation made by the angels. This will take place at the end of the age.

5. The destiny of the bad fish. The angels shall sever the wicked from among the just, and shall cast them into the furnace of fire where there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

THE NEW HYDRATOR

A means of restoring wilted vegetables to their original fresh-from-the-garden appearance, and storing fresh vegetables for many days at a time in their best condition has been discovered by Frigidaire Corporation, leading manufacturers of electric refrigerators, according to a national announcement made today by this General Motors subsidiary.

Tests made in the experimental kitchens and bacteriological laboratory of the company at Dayton, Ohio, have shown that celery, lettuce, spinach, radishes, carrots, parsley, watercress, endive, green beans and similar varieties can be revived to their original crispness and wholesomeness after having wilted to such an extent that they would be discarded by most housewives and cooks, the announcement explained.

The new electric refrigeration achievement, which is known as a hydrator, also will keep sandwiches in perfect condition for long periods of time, it is stated in the announcement. The hydrator will be placed on display at The Dayton Power & Light Co., Xenia, Ohio, show rooms today and besides being a part of all new household electric refrigerators will be available for installation in models now in use, it was announced.

REVIVE OLD
COMMUNITY CLUB
WEDNESDAY EVE

The long dormant Community Club was revived Wednesday evening when about twenty-five business men gathered in Community Hall to consider such a move.

Business men representing not only retail stores but manufacturers and other lines realize that a community such as this should have a good live working organization to promote the interests of the community.

In the re-organization, G. H. Hartman was chosen president; M. C. Nagley, vice president; W. W. Trout, secretary; P. M. Gilliam, treasurer. Several committees were appointed, one of which will make a survey as to whether the old constitution and by-laws will fit the needs of today. Another important subject for consideration was the establishing a method of handling credit and keeping a check on the professional bad credit customer.

Another meeting will be held this coming Wednesday night when it is expected an out-of-town speaker will be present.

Who Owns Antarctica?

Lieut. Comdr. R.E. Byrd, U.S.N.

Capt. Roald Amundsen

Lieut. Charles Wilkes, U.S.N.

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

AND when Commander Richard E. Byrd of the United States navy in his giant three-motored airplane, the NX4542, flew over the South pole on November 29, 1929, his feat did more than merely add to a brilliant record of the achievement of being the first man to reach the South pole by air, and the first to fly over both the North and South poles. During his history-making flight he discovered 40,000 square miles of ice-enclosed lands never before seen by man and claimed them in the name of the United States. And thereby hangs the tale of a dispute between nations as to who owns Antarctica, a dispute which would seem to the casual observer to be a silly one. For, as he would naturally think, what difference does it make who "owns" that 40,000 square miles of ice and snow, so far as practical value to the possessor is concerned? But what if it should be discovered that that vast territory contains vast stores of oil, gold and other mineral wealth? That would be something else again! While the dispute so far has not reached anything approaching a critical stage, it is, nevertheless, one which offers some interesting possibilities. For Uncle Sam and John Bull are the two would-be "owners" of Antarctica. When it became known that Commander Byrd was planning an Antarctic expedition, the British government filed with the State department of this country a communication offering to lend any assistance possible while Byrd was "in British territory" and defining that territory by quoting a resolution of the Imperial conference in 1926, promulgated at the request of Australia.

This note was received by the State department on November 17, 1929, but the department did not give its official answer until November, 1929, just a short time before Byrd made his epic flight. That reply, it is said unofficially, was a courteous "thank you" for England's expression of interest in Byrd's activities "in the Ross dependency and the Falkland Island dependency," but was strictly noncommittal in either conceding or denying British claims to sovereignty over the areas enumerated in the British note.

British claims to sovereignty in Antarctica go back for their beginnings to an event which took place just 157 years ago. That was on January 17, 1773, when Capt. James Cook, later famous for his discovery of the Hawaiian Islands, in his ship, Resolution, accompanied by the Adventure, crossed the Antarctic circle for the first time in history. A year later he reached what was then "farthest south" (even though it was 1,318 miles from the South pole) and discovered a land which he named the Isle of Georgia, in honor of George III, and Sandwich Land, in honor of the fourth Earl of Sandwich, first lord of the admiralty during the American Revolution.

In 1823 James Weddell of the British Royal navy discovered the sea which now bears his name and set a new "farthest south" record of 1,028 miles from the pole. Soon after that the famous whaling firm of Enderby in London became interested in Antarctic exploration and sent out several expeditions. In one of them in 1839 James Briscoe of the British navy discovered and named Kemp Land, and in 1839 John Baily discovered and named the Baily Islands.

His long wanderings in the Antarctic regions are recorded in detail in the five-volume narrative of the expedition written by Wilkes himself, so only a brief summary of what he accomplished can be given here. Embarking from Sydney, Australia, on December 26, 1839, Wilkes made Macquarie Island the first rendezvous. He had already lost the Sea Gull and all its crew in the South Pacific below South America, and within a week after leaving Sydney the Flying Fish and the Peacock dropped out of sight in fog. Then the Porpoise disappeared but Wilkes pushed on southward in the Vincennes.

By January 10, 1840, he had reached 66 degrees south latitude and had found the Peacock and the Porpoise. They were now confronted by an ice barrier, but the crews of the remaining ships reported that appearances beyond the barrier seemed to indicate land, and in his report Wilkes sets January 10, 1840, as the date of the discovery of a new continent. For the next two weeks the ships cruised about independently and repeatedly saw "appearances of land." On January 30 the Vincennes entered an indentation of the ice-bound coast which was named Piner's Bay. "We approached within half a mile of the dark volcanic rocks which appeared on both sides of us, and saw the land gradually rising beyond the ice to the height of 5,000 feet," says Wilkes. "It could be seen distinctly extending to the east and west of our position fully sixty miles. I gave the land the name of the Antarctic Continent."

After skirting the Antarctic coast for some 1,700 miles and reaching a point 66 degrees, 1 minute, south, Wilkes turned north and set sail for Australia. He had discovered the segment of Antarctica which now bears his name, Wilkes Land, and later explorations have proved what he believed he had discovered—a vast Antarctic continent.

In the meantime a British expedition was in the Antarctic, led by Capt. James Clark Ross of the British Royal navy. He had planned to visit the very region where Wilkes was exploring, and when he learned that the American was ahead of him, he was very much chagrined. So he changed his plans and this resulted in his discovery of Victoria Land and Ross sea. While he was stopping at Hobart Town in November, 1840, he received a letter from Wilkes describing his recent voyage and enclosing a chart. There were sent with the friendliest intention of aiding a fellow explorer, but it had the unexpected result of starting a long controversy with Ross and discrediting Wilkes' discoveries in the eyes of the British.

On the chart which Wilkes sent he had set down the supposed position of land found in 1839 by Baily, and identified it with land seen by men on one of the American vessels. He neglected to indicate that this land was not one of his own discoveries. When Ross later sailed directly over this spot, he decided that it Wilkes was wrong in this regard he was wrong in others, and Ross in his report devoted fifteen pages to discrediting

Wilkes' discoveries. It is true that Wilkes did make some mistakes in his location, because he could not find his instruments and check his locations magnetically so that they would be free from error due to the attraction of his instruments by the metal on board his ship. But, for all such errors, he cannot in justice be denied his right to having discovered and described the Antarctic continent, thereby giving his country a claim to it by right of "discovery."

"GLAD TO TELL WHAT KONJOLA DID FOR ME"

Cleveland Man Banished Stomach Ill of Long Standing Through New Medicine

MR. HARRY FRITCH

"I am glad to tell what Konjola did for me," said Mr. Harry Fritch, 3904 West Nineteenth street, Cleveland. "I suffered terribly for several years with indigestion. My color was bad and I was subject to frequent and severe dizzy spells. It seemed that everything I ate caused gas accumulation in my stomach and the bloated condition which followed was painful and weakened my heart action. No medicines I tried helped me."

"Just three bottles of this splendid medicine, Konjola, did the work in my case. Today I eat what I please of the heartiest foods and suffer no discomfort. I no longer bloat and the pains have disappeared. My appetite has improved and the dizzy spells and nausea never occur. I am in better health than I was before my stomach failed me. I owe all this to Konjola."

Konjola is sold in Cedarville at Prowant & Brown drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

They Pay You

Advertisements pay you to read them. They pay you in time. From the advertisements in this newspaper you can learn where to get what you want, instead of searching around. You can know the merits of each article offered for sale.

They pay in money. Advertisements help you to get full value for your dollars. Goods which are consistently advertised are of consistently high quality for their prices.

They pay you in satisfaction. Manufacturers and merchants will not undertake an advertising campaign until they are sure their product is right. It would be ruinous to advertise an unworthy product, for that would simply call added attention to its deficiencies.

They pay you in information. Advertisements tell of new products, of new designs, new materials, better workmanship. Well-informed people always read the advertisements to keep posted.

Friends of Mrs. Hugh Grindle surprised her with a covered dish dinner last Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Amos Frame, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Nagley, Mr. and Mrs. Aden Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Burba, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mr. Elder reports more northern people in Florida than have been going there the past few years. There is an abundance of oranges and grape fruit but no one is allowed to bring out or even ship without meeting government regulations. The quarantine to fight the citrus fly is handled much the same as for the corn borer in this country. Mr. Elder reports that E. S. Keyes, Atlantic Coast Ry. freight agent in Orlando, formerly of this place, is much improved following a long illness, and is again on duty.

Ohio Eastern Star Holds

Springfield Meeting

Miss Florence Swann, Xenia, was chosen president of the Ohio Eastern Star, 18th district, meeting held in Springfield, Wednesday. About five hundred members of the order gathered in the new Masonic temple for the meeting. Mrs. Inez Armstrong, Osborn, was chosen vice president; Mrs. Louise Slaughter, Sadalia, treasurer; Mrs. Lucy Baldwin, St. Paris, secretary. Reports of the work in the following towns in the district were given: Plain City, Mt. Sterling, St. Paris, Jamestown, Xenia, Cedarville, London, New Carlisle, Yellow Springs, North Lewisburg, South Charleston, Sadalia, West Jefferson and Urbana. A number of members of the local chapter attended the meeting.

Mrs. I. C. Davis

Entertains D. A. R.

Daughters of the American Revolution, held their regular meeting at the home of I. C. Davis, Tuesday afternoon. The meeting opened with the chapter Ritual in charge of Mrs. Fred Townsley. The Regent Mrs. Chas. H. Eyrin conducted the business session, and made announcement of the State meeting in Oxford, urging the delegates and others to attend. The speaker of the day, Miss Emma Lyons of Greene County Red Cross gave a talk of mankind and Patriotism are united, showing our efforts for the betterment. She quoted a saying of President McKinley, just six months before his assassination: "If thy own self be true, thy God and thy Country, and if thou tellest O. Cromwell, thou tellest a blessed martyr." To us as citizens we need to encourage the Red Cross work, whose mission is to help those in need, in our country our State and Nation. Mrs. Schick gave a reading and Mrs. H. C. Aultman read the message from our President General. Mrs. H. P. Hastings in a few but well chosen words presented a Sunshine box, for one of our members, who has been quite ill. Miss Agnes Kyle, and the dainty packages presented a beautiful appearance to be opened one day for the month of March. Excellent refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Wallace Rife.

Mrs. James Duffield and granddaughter, Betty Lou Burba, spent several days in Dayton with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lawrence.

"HERALD WANT AND SALE ADS PAY"

This Week

Bury Me in Pink
 Gandhi's Appeal
 The King's Maxim
 If War Did Come

Woman's interest in dress, strong and deep, goes back a million years. She started with a necklace, according to scientists. First an ornament around the neck, then one around the waist, then a skirt and all sorts of things.

A woman in California who murdered a man and killed herself asked to be buried in white satin with yellow roses in her hand.

A well-known actress in New York jumps from a twentieth-story window and makes two requests: first, that she be buried in pink satin; second, that her husband keep away from the funeral.

Beautiful in sincerity and humility is Gandhi's appeal to the British government. "On bended knees, I ask you to ponder this phenomenon"—namely, the "impoverishing of India's dumb millions" by Britain.

Gandhi says, "I do not intend to harm a single Englishman." He will only resist passively.

Very touching, but not the attitude that gains independence, not the attitude of people ready for independence.

Britain set a different example before the Hindus after the Sepoy rebellion.

The British put murderous rebels inside of cannon and blew them to pieces, knowing that religious superstition would make the punishment most horrible.

No rebellion of consequence since then.

One industry marches on to higher and higher figures. In the cigarette business, prosperity reigns. Everybody always has money to buy cigarettes.

When employment is lacking there is leisure to smoke more cigarettes, and all feel that they must have them, job or no job.

Last year's production was one hundred and nineteen billion cigarettes, almost a thousand cigarettes per year for every man, woman and child in the United States.

One thing most important to all business men in connection with the cigarette industry: Cigarette men are the most aggressive, energetic and continuous advertisers in the nation.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey sets an example to other oil concerns, voluntarily reducing its refinery operations by one-seventh.

Refining is a continuous process, and must continue seven days a week, but only six days' actual work will be done, to prevent overproduction.

And most important part of the good example, men will not be discharged or have their wages cut.

An English clergyman reveals King George's six maxims, all hung up on the walls of his library.

The first is: "Teach me to be obedient to the rules of the game."

Excellent for a constitutional monarch, obeying the will of his people.

Rulers of a different kind, Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, had a different maxim: "See that you obey the rules of the game as I make them."

We do not understand management of prisons, or our criminals are different from other criminals.

Weeks ago, Warden Hoffman of Auburn prison, New York, told a reporter: "We are sitting on a powder keg."

Recently, a convict stabbed the head keeper of the prison to death. He knew that the electric chair, nearby, would inevitably avenge that murder. Nevertheless, he committed it.

General Ely, commanding the second corps area, has a plan to defend New York city in war.

He would "mobilize the civilian services."

thinks first. President of the Ford company, knowing the sales from day to day, possessing sound information about business conditions, he predicts steady improvement in business, particularly in industrial lines.

Plow Ground For Best Soybean Crop

Higher Yields Obtained From Plowed Than From Unplowed Seed Beds

As a general rule, the ground should be plowed for soybeans, according to results of tests by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, cited by the farm crops department of the Ohio State University.

"There are a few exceptions to this general rule," says one of the bulletins issued by the experiment station, "as when the soil is naturally loose and when a good seed bed can be prepared by disking."

Experiments at Wooster have yielded 10.58 bushels of grain and 1895 pounds of straw to the acre on disked corn stubble land, while plowed corn stubble land yielded 16.79 bushels of grain and 2,062 pounds of straw.

Early plowing is recommended as the better practice, since it gives time for the seed bed to settle and opportunity to kill one crop of weeds before the soybeans are planted.

Late plowing in a dry season may leave the soil so loose and dry that germination will be poor and the early growth of the soybeans stunted.

Many growers prepare the seed bed for soybeans before that for corn, but do not plant the soybeans until the corn is in the ground.

FOR SALE—Some good mixed hay. Phone 4-122.

CHASING RAINBOWS
 HAS MUSICAL HITS
 Love and King sing in technicolor of new talkie.

Five song hits from the places of seven of America's most popular composers provide the tuneful background of "Chasing Rainbows", musical extravaganza which will open Saturday March 15th at the Regent Theatre.

Springfield for a weeks run with Charles King and Bessie Love in the feature roles.

Milton Ager and Jack Yellen, noted for their "Ain't She Sweet", "I Wonder What Bessie of Sally", "Forgive Me", "Crazy Words" and "Hard-Hearted Hannah," wrote "Lucky Me, Miss Love and King opposite each other. They first played together in "Happy Days are here again special."

ly for the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production.

All of the song hits were written to meet the demand of the original story, penned by Bess Meredith and adapted for the screen by Wells Root.
